Hello awesome people!!! First I want to say I am pretty excited to make this page finally... and I can't wait to add my digital work, photos, and videos.

So a little about me; I started riding in spring 2015, and a lot has happen during my experience riding motorcycles. I had my longest ride, which was about 354 miles, a car hit me, and I realized that I really don't like being in a car. Even though I was injured it doesn't stop me for riding.

I made this site so I can share my adventures on my motorcycle with people who like riding, friends who wants to check up on me, or people that enjoy different style of art or just like seeing people travel. I won't be doing video blogs ... unless people do want to hear me not know the lyrics of songs.

I am excited to do this! I have stalling because I didn't have enough material, but now I do. I hope you guys will enjoy my work or I hope to see you one the road.
